

To ASME Members:

When you click through to AccessEngineering from a link on this page, the system will recognize your device as affiliated with ASME and automatically download a cookie. This cookie will allow AccessEngineering to recognize your device (e.g., Laptop/Tablet) and maintain access for 6 months on the same device and web browser, without you needing to start from the ASME website.

Important Keys to Enabling Seamless Remote Access:

- Accept cookies if prompted
- Use the same web browser
- Do not clear cookies from your web browser

When the 6 months access period is over, you will need to return to this page and click through to AccessEngineering again in order to renew the remote access for another 6 month period.

Note: If you clear your cookies, you will also need to return to this page and click through to AccessEngineering again in order to restart your remote access.
